

Everything you could wish for

The incredible WaterGenie allows you to install a bathroom appliance or a complete bathroom where you want, not where plumbing dictates.

That's the beauty and freedom that WaterGenie brings to bathroom design.

How the WaterGenie works its magic

The WaterGenie is a macerator that shreds human waste and toilet paper. When the toilet is flushed, the contents are moved into the macerator box. A pressure sensitive device activates the electrical motor and the waste and paper are shredded and pumped as fine slurry through the small diameter discharge pipe. Because they require no conventional plumbing hookups, macerators are about the only products on the market that allow you to build an extra bathroom and or a powder room quickly and easily.

You have three wishes for the bathroom

The beauty of the WaterGenie is that you can use it as a standalone or build a complete washroom around it. The WaterGenie's two additional inlets, one on either side, allow you to connect a hand basin on one side and a shower on the other.

With WaterGenie you can have your beautiful bathroom where you really want it. There are no limitations. In fact, the WaterGenie actually defies gravity, having the ability to pump water up to 12 feet vertically and up to 150 feet horizontally.

WaterGenie
Macerating Toilet System

Does the idea of installing a bathroom anywhere you want sound appealing? With WaterGenie it's not only possible, it's positively practical. This is a bathroom system – built with proven macerator technology – which allows you to build an extra bathroom or a powder room quickly and easily.

What makes the WaterGenie particularly appealing to both home and cottage owners is that it works with small diameter pipe only. If you have access to water, drainage and electricity, you have all the necessary requirements to install a WaterGenie, simple as that. And the magical part of it is, it's so easy to install, requiring no walls to be torn down, or floors to be broken up.

Handy do-it-yourselfers can install a WaterGenie themselves. A qualified plumber can install a complete bathroom in a matter of hours. Abracadabra! Just like that, you can enjoy your new WaterGenie bathroom within a single day.

Advantages over conventional solutions

- You decide where to put a toilet or bathroom, it is not dictated by the drainage situation.
- You can have a macerating/pump system anywhere from attic to basement.
- Your floors stay intact. No breaking, no mess.
- Your labour costs are a fraction of traditional sewage tank/lift pump installations.
- You don't have to build up a floor.
- You can be up and running in half a day.
- You only need small diameter pipe, which can be run virtually anywhere.
- You only need the space of a regular toilet. Other systems need a minimum of 30" clearance accessibility at all times for service.
